Sec. 7-9-20. - Applicability of the Zoning Code.

- (a) Property to which applicable: The Zoning Code shall apply to all ~~property unincorporated land~~ within the unincorporated area of the County of Orange, except as otherwise provided by this section.
- (b) Duplicated regulation. Whenever any provision of the Zoning Code and any other provision of law, whether set forth in this Code or in any other law or ordinance, impose overlapping or contradictory requirements, or certain restrictions covering any of the same subject matter, that provision which is more restrictive or imposes higher standards shall control, except as otherwise expressly provided in the Zoning Code. - (d) Relation to prior Code. The provisions of this Code supersede all prior zoning regulations codified in Article 2 of the Codified Ordinances and any amendments. No provision of this Code shall validate any land use or structure established, constructed or maintained in violation of all prior versions of Zoning Code, unless such validation is specifically authorized by this Code and is in conformance with all other regulations.

Sec. 7-9-24.5. - 7-9-126.3 Determination of building site width Measuring building site width and depth.

In any district zoned for residential uses when a minimum building site width is required, such required width shall be determined by measuring the distance between the sidelines of the building site along a line parallel to a straight line joining the foremost points of the side property lines, and twenty (20) feet, at the closest point, from the ultimate street right of way line. However, in the case of a panhandle building site or a building site not abutting a street or alley and gaining access by an easement, the width of the building site shall be determined by measuring the distance across the building site along a straight line in any direction.

In any district other than a residential district, when a minimum building site width is required, such required width shall be determined by measuring the distance between the points of intersection of the side property lines with the ultimate front street right of way line.

(a) Calculation of the building site width.

- (1) The measurement shall be taken only within the building site area.
- (2) Calculate the average of a minimum of five (5) straight lines which best represent the average width of the building site area, the five (5) lines are determined using the process below:
 - a. Front property line.
 1. Measure the length of the front property line.
 2. If the front property line is curved and/or composed of two (2) or more lines, use a straight line to measure the distance between the points where the front property line meets the side property line.
 - b. Rear property line.
 1. Measure the length of the rear property line.
 2. If the rear property line is curved and/or composed of two (2) or more lines, use a straight line to measure the distance between the points where the rear property line meets the side property line.

In computing the depth or a rear setback from any building where such setback opens on alley, private street, public park or public beach, one-half (0.5) of the width of such alley, street, park or beach may be deemed to be a portion of the rear setback, except that under this provision, no rear setback shall be less than fifteen (15) feet.
- (c) Setbacks from street. If a property abuts an existing or ultimate right-of-way street for which the existing right-of-way is narrower than the right-of-way ultimately required for the street, the required setback shall be established from the ultimate right-of-way rather than the property line.

Sec. 7-9-24.8. - Measuring distances.

- (a) Measurements at shortest distance. When measuring a required distance, such as the minimum distance between a structure and a lot line, the measurement is made at the shortest distance between the two (2) objects.
- (b) Distances are measured horizontally. When determining distances for setbacks and structure dimensions, all distances are measured along a horizontal plane from the appropriate line, edge of building, structure, storage area, parking area, or other object. These distances are not measured by following the topography or slope of the land.
- (c) Measurements involving a structure. Measurements involving a structure are made to the closest support element of the structure. Structures or portions of structures that are entirely underground are not included in measuring required distances.

- (d) Measurement of vehicle stacking or travel areas. Measurement of a minimum travel distance for vehicles, such as front-entry garage entrance setbacks and stacking lane distances, are measured down the center of the vehicle travel area.
- (e) Measuring a buffer or radius. When a specified land use is required to be located a minimum distance from another land use, the minimum distance is measured in a straight line from all points along the lot line of the subject project, in all directions.

Sec. 7-9-24.9. - ~~7-9-28~~ Determining grade ground level.

- (a) Grade, Ground level. The average elevation, determined by averaging the elevations of four (4) or more points as necessary, at the building site boundary line where it is less than five (5) feet from the building or at five (5) feet outside the perimeter of the bearing or foundation line of building.
- (1) Architectural projections extending less than five (5) feet from the exterior wall are excluded.
- (2) When there is more than one (1) building on a site, average grade is calculated separately for each building.
- (b) Finished grade. The final grade of the site is the elevation at the base of the exterior surface of the building wall, which conforms to the approved plan for the whole site.
- (c) Natural grade. The undisturbed elevation of the ground prior to human intervention.

(a) ~~7-9-129.1 Measurement~~ Measuring building height.

When a building site slopes in any direction at an average grade of more than ten percent (10%) within the front fifty (50) feet of the building site, building height is the vertical distance above an inclined slope to the top of the structure, including screened mechanical and electrical fixtures. The inclined slope is established by enclosing the structure with an imaginary line five (5) feet outside of the perimeter of the structure, or at the property line if it is less than five (5) feet from the structure, and by assuming that all ground area closer is flat. See diagram for building height.

- (b) ~~In all situations not included within (a) above, the height is the vertical distance above the ground level of finished grade to the top of the structure. This is established by enclosing the structure with an imaginary line five (5) feet outside of the perimeter of the structure, or at the property line if it is less than five (5) feet from the structure, and determining the average elevation from the imaginary line.~~

(b) 7-9-137.5 Measuring height of fences and walls. Fence/wall heights shall be measured from the base of the fence/wall to the top on interior or exterior side, whichever is greater. The height of any fence or wall shall be determined by measuring the vertical distance from the base of the fence or wall, at the lowest existing grade on such fence or structure, to the highest point of such structure on the interior or exterior of the structure, whichever is greater. In the case of walls that are parallel to and within five (5) feet of a public sidewalk or other public way, grade shall be the finished elevation of the closest point on the sidewalk or public way.
